

Building a team

Jesus didn't do mission on his own, he began his ministry by gathering others around him. He built a team that worked together to fulfil God's vision and mission.

Building a team can take time - all members of the team need to catch the vision of catalysing a movement of disciples that make disciples. A good way to start is to study the Bible together and explore the way Jesus made disciples and established His team.

Gather potential team members together regularly around food; study the scriptures and pray together. Do a Discovery Bible Study and explore the way Jesus made his disciples and built his team.

Spend time praying together for the harvest, those people that don't know Jesus yet. Ask God to raise up workers and to be leading you with strategy and purpose to reach out to those around you.

And as the group grows together, continue to pray for each of the potential team members:

- Pray that God will give them a vision for a disciple-making movement to take hold.
- Help them to process what they are learning - listen to them, encourage them, pray with them and direct their questions back to scripture.

And always be on the look out for more people that God is preparing. He will be raising up more workers to join you in the mission, as well as people of peace who will act as the doorway - opening their community to the gospel.

Here are some passages you could explore as a team.
